

SE 175 – Additive Manufacturing

Course Description

This course covers various additive manufacturing technologies, their role in rapid prototyping and manufacturing, and key research and development issues in additive manufacturing. Students will also learn to design parts tailored for commercial additive manufacturing processes.

Prerequisites: SE 3 and SE 105